

Information according to Art. 13 of the General Data Protection Regulation (GDPR)

On the collection, storage and other processing of contact data as well as image, video and sound recordings in the context of the conference "A Playbook for Reinstating the Rule of Law" at the University of Freiburg.

The protection of your personal data is a major concern of the University of Freiburg and we would like you to be fully informed about the processing of your personal data.

We process your personal data as defined in Art. 4 No. 1 GDPR (hereinafter referred to as "data") in accordance with legal requirements and do so in a transparent manner. In the following data protection information, we explain to what extent data is processed in connection with the above-mentioned event, for what purposes and on what legal basis this takes place. You will also receive information about contact persons and your rights.

Categories of processed data, processing activity and purpose of data processing

In order to enable the tracking of conference participants, the data collected during online registration (contact details) will be stored and compared with the participants attending the conference as part of an admission check on the conference days (20–21 June 2024).

In addition, image, video and audio recordings will be made at the conference for documentation and information purposes, which may be published after the conference (print, online, social media). Insofar as only overview recordings of participants are made, processing is permitted within the scope of the fulfilment of the University of Freiburg's tasks (public relations). If recordings are to be made of individual persons or smaller groups of persons, the person making the recording will ask the persons concerned for their consent in advance.

Legal basis of the data processing

Processing of contact data: Art. 6 para. 1 subpara. 1 lit. a, Art. 7 GDPR (consent)

Creation of overview recordings of the participants: Art. 6 para. 1 subpara. 1 lit. e, para. 3 GDPR i.V.m. Section 12 (1) sentence 1, Section 2 (9) LHG BW (fulfilment of public tasks)

Creation of recordings of individuals and small groups of persons: Art. 6 para. 1 subpara. 1 lit. a, Art. 7 GDPR (consent)

Storage duration or criteria for determining the duration

The data will be deleted if processing is no longer required for the above-mentioned purposes.

With regard to the data required to track the participants, this is the case at the end of the conference on June 21, 2024, 5 p.m., unless further processing is necessary for the assertion, exercise or defence of legal claims. Further exceptions may result from Art. 17 para. 3 GDPR if the relevant requirements are met.

The storage of image, video or sound recordings takes place unlimited, in order to permanently document the conference and inform about it.

If consent has been obtained, it can be revoked at any time with effect for the future. The revocation can also be made for individual data. In the event of revocation, the data concerned may no longer be used for the above-mentioned purposes in the future and will be deleted or destroyed immediately, insofar as this is possible for the university.

Please note: In the case of printed works, consent can no longer be revoked once the print order has been placed. Further use of the printed products created at the time of revocation is permitted. In the case of a new edition, the data and, where applicable, other personal data will not appear again in the printed product concerned.

If necessary, the data will be taken over by the responsible university archive and generally stored there indefinitely.

Categories of recipients

The recipients of the data are the employees of the university who process the data as part of their official duties. These are the employees of the Institute of Public Law, Dept. 1: European and International Law (see above for contact details).

If services of external photographers are used, we receive the image material from them. If we publish image, video or sound recordings on social media channels, the data will be transmitted to and processed by the operators of the social media platforms. We cannot influence how they handle your data.

Furthermore, in accordance with archiving regulations, all university documents must be offered to the university archive before they are deleted. The archive decides on a case-by-case basis which documents will be accepted.

Further recipients only come into question in the event that we are legally obliged to pass on the data.

Your rights as a data subject

You have the right to obtain information from the University of Freiburg about the personal data processed about you (Art. 15 GDPR).

You have the right to have incorrectly stored data corrected or have it completed (Art. 16 GDPR).

Under certain conditions, you have the right to have your data erased (Art. 17 GDPR).

Under certain conditions, you have the right to restrict the processing (Art. 18 GDPR).

Under certain conditions, you have the right to data portability (Art. 20 GDPR).

In addition, if you have given us your consent to process your data, you have the right to withdraw your consent at any time, without affecting the lawfulness of processing based on consent before its withdrawal. You can also withdraw your consent for the processing of individual data. In this case, please contact ruleoflaw@jura.uni-freiburg.de.

In the event that you do not grant or do withdraw your consent, there will be no disadvantages. Insofar as consent is not revoked, it is generally valid unlimited in time.

You have the right to lodge a complaint with a supervisory authority if you consider that the processing of personal data concerning you infringes legal provisions. Such a supervisory authority is, for example, the State Commissioner for Data Protection and Freedom of Information Baden-Württemberg.

If you have any questions about the processing of your data or wish to assert your rights against the University of Freiburg, please contact datenschutz@uni-freiburg.de.
